Musings by Our Lancaster Scribe.

The man who has no respect for his Maker and thinks he can do without God, will some day be convinced that God can do without him.

Sweinforth, of Illinois, takes in $100 a day for claiming to be the Messiah. He is doing a land office business and the only wonder is that, in this age of imitations, when brass is received for a substitute for gold, when trickery is regarded as proof of talent, and defiance of public sentiment an evidence of genius, that there are not hundreds of kindred Messiahs springing up like mushrooms all over the land.

The members of the Lancaster bar had the pleasure of a visit from Judge Sauley on Thursday last. He was looking well and received from every one the kindly greeting he so richly deserves. Judge Sauley is a man who has, by his gentlemanly deportment, his uniform courtesy and modest bearing, won the respect and admiration of the people of all parties and classes. He is a lawyer of remarkable ability and an ornament to any bar at which he may appear. His many friends gladly welcome him back to his "Old Kentucky home."

The man who was told when he proposed to tear down his barns and build greater in which he might store his goods, "This night thy soul shall be required of thee," is the one who needs looking after by the christian world in this selfish and uncharitable age. Of all the despicable characters that degrade society there is none that surpasses the miser, who lives only to hoard up a lot of trash for which not even his children will thank him. Pollock says of this character:

"Ill-guided wretch! Thou mightst have seen him at the midnight hour, When good men slept, and in light-winged dreams Ascended up to God, in wondrous hall, With vigilance and fasting worn to skin And bone, and wrapped in most deluding rags, Thou mightst have seen him tending to his hoards And holding strange communion with his gold; And, as his thievish fancy seemed to hear The night-man's foot approach, starting alarmed And in his old, decrepit, withered hand That palsy shook, grasping the yellow earth To make it sure."

In all ages of the world men have been more or less governed by superstition. Even those who admit the impropriety of an indulgence in any of the conventional forms in which this nonsense exists, are nevertheless devoted devotees and are daily practicing that which they publicly ridicule. Every private residence, hotel, dry goods store, grocery, barber shop or bakery has posted over the door to their main entrance a horse shoe to keep out the witches. With the possible exception of buildings dedicated to religious services, the horse shoe is never absent from the door. Tiny shoes are worn as ornaments upon the person and the old and young, sages and fools, are adorned alike with these immaculate charms. Under the restrictions imposed by the arbitrary rules of superstition it is regarded as the height of folly to start upon a journey on Friday. The weather is said to be dependent upon the ground hog and goose bone and these prognosticators are watched with interest by people who are fully aware of the folly they are encouraging. If a rabbit should cross the road in front of one making a journey, it is promptly accepted as an evidence of bad luck and its evil effects can only be averted by turning back or looking hurriedly over the left shoulder. But it is useless to moralize upon such subjects, as there is no likelihood of a change, at least in our day and generation.

A VOLUME IN PARAGRAPHS.—The government taxes the people $800 a minute and now it wants to make up a $50,000,000 deficiency in the treasury.

The government taxes the people $53,400 an hour and now it wants to increase taxes by indorsing the Nicaragua canal bonds to the extent of $100,000,000.

The government taxes the people $1,281,600 a day and now it wants to spend more money on pensions.

The government taxes the people $8,971,200 a week and now it says that high prices are a blessing.

The government taxes the people $35,884,800 a month and now it opposes any reform in the tariff or in our financial system.

The government taxes the people $467,827,490 a year and most of it is paid by the farmers for the benefit of a few privileged classes. — Atlanta Constitution.

Mayor Salter, of Argonia, Kan., besides attending to the public affairs of that enterprising little city, does all the household work at home, including cooking, washing and ironing for a family of six. It is perhaps unnecessary to add that Mayor Salter is a woman.

LONDON LAUREL COUNTY.

—The Laurel Seminary has a large attendance and Prof. Brock and Yates have cause for congratulation.

—The Rev. Dr. Breeze is preaching a series of interesting sermons at this place. His admirers call him the "2d Talmage" and the sinners hide out after hearing him preach.

—The farmers' alliance had a speaker here Saturday evening and a good-sized crowd to hear him. The speaker's name was not learned by your correspondent, but an organization of that kind was effected.

—A grand entertainment at the Swiss colony, Bernstadt, Sunday, was attended by many from Pittsburg, East Bernstadt and a few from London. The main feature of the programme was a mask ball and beer.

—Mr. J. T. Johnson, lumberman and dealer in real estate, is preparing to build a handsome residence on Sublimity street, back of the court-house. When completed it will be one of the handsomest residences in London.

—An unusual thing occurred in our little but big town Saturday—a pistol shot in the court-house corridor. A misunderstanding between Mr. Lot Reid and Charley Catching resulted in the latter firing one shot at Reid. The cause of the trouble could not be ascertained, but no one was hurt, except in feelings. Both are young men and have heretofore been friends. It is hoped that the trouble is over. No arrests yet.

—Messrs. Willis and Jack Adams, father and son, were in London Friday visiting relatives. David Hatcher, of Hazel Patch, was here Saturday and Sunday to see his brother, John "T." Mr. Horatio Sawyer, of near Lexington, is on a short visit to his father, Rev. J. A. Sawyer, this week. Mr. Van Ryan has returned to London, after sojourn of many years at Berea, Ky., and will in the future make this place his home. He occupies the house recently bought from J. D. Smith by W. B. Catching, on the corner next to the Methodist church. Miss Lucille Joplin, of Mt. Vernon, was visiting here last week.

ODDS AND ENDS.

A live minister and a dead church are hard to keep together.

The United States navy will want 1,000 seamen within the next 60 days.

If every dog who barks would bite, the world would soon be full of sore legs.

A christian with a long face is one of the best advertisements the devil has on earth.

The next train of first-class Pullman cars to be placed in the Eastern States will be painted white.

If some people would always think twice before they speak, they would keep still a good deal.

An expert says that the easiest way to clean rubber shoes of any kind is to rub them with vaseline.

The muster rolls show that no less than 21,000 Union veterans answered death's roll-call during 1890.

A pair of Texas cattle horns were found in Scott Bluffs county, Neb., the other day that measured 5 feet 9 inches from tip to tip.

It is reported that a farmer in Holt county, Kansas, has 26 living children, all of whom are unmarried and live at the homestead.

An editor in Georgia says: "We have at last come to grief. Just as the foreman had looked up the forms the sheriff looked up the editor. You need not look for us again."

"Take any 25 tall, lean men," said an old court officer to a reporter, "and you can secure a jury in a murder case. They have no conscientious scruples against the death penalty. As a rule, short, thick men have doubts on this point."

The N. Y. World has printed in one day 555,650 copies or 413 for every minute in the day. On a single issue it has used 3,331 pounds of ink. It has cast in one night 652 plates to print one day's paper on its many presses, and used over 94 tons (189,747 pounds) of white paper.

The original Harpers, of publishing fame, were printers and their sons and grand sons have learned the craft. Each one of the family that intends entering the firm must learn the trade. He starts as an apprentice and is not admitted to the firm until he has mastered the craft. He also practices proof reading and in this manner goes the rounds.

A surgeon of Decatur, Ill., has just completed a novel surgical operation. He removed parts of four ribs of a cat and inserted them in the nose of a young lady and formed a perfect bridge for her nose. This is said to be the first operation of the kind known in the annals of surgery.

—By a vote of 27 to 24 the Senate re-committed the bill for the adjustment of the accounts of laborers under the eight-hour law. A great deal of demagoguery was exhibited in the discussion.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—A revival which has been in progress at East Liverpool, O., for four weeks, has resulted in 1,100 conversions.

—Rev. J. M. Evans closed a revival at Charleston, W. Va., last week that resulted in 60 additions to the Presbyterian church.

—Elder J. G. Livingston will preach at Goshen next Saturday and Sunday and regularly thereafter on the 3d Saturday and Sunday of each month.

—Revs. J. G. Livingston and Stephen Collier's meeting at Crab Orchard, closed Sunday night with 37 additions. Mr. Livingston says it was one of the grandest revivals he ever witnessed.

—Sam Jones, referring to the Palestine incident, said: "I am afraid this kind of thing is not going to stop here. Some smart Aleck will want to whip me again. I won't have peace until I kill some one."

—Mrs. Harriet Tyree, of Springfield, O., says a dispatch, was alarmingly ill of la grippe. She begged to be baptized and a Christian minister was sent for. The woman was too feeble to be taken to the church and as it is the dogma of his church to immerse, a zinc-lined metallic casket was used. There was immediately a change in her condition for the better.

—Rev. P. T. Hale preached a good sermon to a crowded house Sunday night and secured a number of subscriptions to his new church at Birmingham. His visit to his old friends is for the purpose of enlisting them in behalf of the church he is building. He had secured a sufficient subscription for it, but one of his largest subscribers failed before paying and left him somewhat in the lurch. Mr. Morris J. Farris gave him $600, R. G. Evans $100 and Mrs. Josephine Evans $50. Several others have shown much liberality.

—A church council has suspended the Rev. Dr. Harris, editor of the Nashville Cumberland Presbyterian, for visiting houses of ill fame and other immoral practices. A keeper of one of these houses had the clerical libertine arrested for assault, charging that he struck her when she asked him to pay the wine and other bills he had made in the house. His defense was that he was passing the woman's house, when she ran out and grabbed his hat, and that he followed her within to get it back, which she refused to do, unless he paid her $100. This was too thin to shove down the throats of credulous clergymen of the church court and the result was as above stated.

FARM AND TRADE ITEMS.

—The Elizabethtown News reports sales of 30 mules at $80 to $100.

—Cabell Sampson sold to Johnson, of Boyle, 16 1,300-pound cattle at 3 cts.

—Will Hays sold to Huns and Drye, of the West End, a combined mare for $150.

—The Advocate says that corn sold at Rev. Bruce's sale at $3 to $3.50 a barrel.

—Jeff and Ed Jones bought of Johnson, of Boyle, 42 head of 1,100-pound cattle at 3.70.

—J. K. Baughman, of the West End, bought of Rice, of Garrard, an elegantly bred jack for $1,200.

—James Martin bought of H. J. Bennett 44 nice fat cotton mules at $100.—Lancaster Record.

—W. H. Prewitt sold to Bishop Hilber, of Bourbon county, 36 head of Cotswold sheep at $9 per head.

—Lewis Frederick sold Brown and Beard, of this place, 30 head of yearling mules at $75.—Shelbyville Sentinel.

—James Martin sold to Gentry Bros. 25 cotton mules at $105. The market for good stock is looking up.—Richmond Register.

—D. N. Prewitt bought of J. T. Johnson and W. N. Brown, of the McKinney section, 33 head of 1,200-pound cattle at 24 cents.

—Lexington has made a bid for the new farmers' tobacco warehouse and it is quite probable it will be accepted. She will thus take a large slice of Louisville's tobacco trade and be an active competitor in the future.

—James Ferguson, of Lexington, has lost the English race horse Ossian, winner of the St. Leger in 1883, which he was importing. Ossian died at sea from sickness and an injury he sustained from the pitching of the vessel.

—Yesterday was a miserably dull day and very little stock changed hands. Will Murphy sold to Woodcock & Owen, of Boyle, 15 head of feeders at 24 cts. and a cow to Geo. C. Keller, Jr., for $25; J. W. Allen sold publicly a bunch of 16 yearling heifers and steers at $16.25. Ballard, of Pulaski, sold to A. H. Bastin a mare mule for $130 and one to James Martin, of Madison, for $100.

DEPARTED FROM THE METHODS.—A Missouri lawyer is under arrest for robbery. His predicament is the result of a departure from the methods of his profession, well established by precedent, and a failure to condue his operations to the courts. He held up a stage coach.—Louisville Times.

The Scriptural Puzzle Solved.

A Sunday school superintendent when asked how many scholars he had, replied: "If you multiply the number of Jacob's sons (12) by the number of times (7) which the Israelites compassed Jericho on the seventh day and add to the product the number of measures (6) of barley which Boaz gave Ruth, divide this by the number (10) of Haman's sons, subtract the number (2) of each kind of unclean beasts that went into the ark, multiply by the number of men (50) that went to seek Elijah after he was taken heaven, subtract from this Joseph's age (30) when he stood before Pharaoh, divided by the number of stones (5) David selected to kill Goliath, subtract the number of furlongs (15) Bethany was distant from Jerusalem, multiply by the number of anchors (4) cast out at the time of Paul's shipwreck, subtract the number of people (8) saved in the ark and the remainder will be the number of pupils in the school. How many were there?" 188.

Howard Bruce, Stanford, Mrs. M. P. Morgan, Pineville, Joel Embry, Stanford, Mrs. E. B. Hansford, Crab Orchard, Miss Annie McKinney, 31, Stanford, Mrs. Sallie B. Hackley, Danville, Mrs. J. W. Brown, Mt. Vernon, Misses Ida Prewitt and Kittie Palmer, 184, Point Leavell, T. J. Hill, aged 12, McCormack's, P. W. Carter, Stanford, J. T. Livingston, 184, Crab Orchard, Miss Sallie B. Pettus, Somerset, Miss Birdie Givens, Lexington, Mrs. J. F. Waters, Danville, Mrs. W. L. Williams, Hustonville, B. F. Engleman, Hubble, J. H. Hall, Hustonville, Miss Mary B. Patton, Crab Orchard, G. W. Bastin, 108, Crab Orchard, Lucy and Harry Moffett, Midway, Mrs. Sue Baughman, Stanford, John Bright, Stanford, Miss Louise B. Park, 188, Middlesboro, Miss Mollie Austin, 108, Hustonville, John Scott, 192, Lexington, Dr. J. T. Bohon, Hustonville, J. L. Dawson, Stanford, Miss Florence Beck, Stanford, W. W. White, 198, Mrs. A. L. White, 1,308, Hubble, Mrs. J. W. Bastin, 184, Pittsburg, George E. Painter, Brodhead. All except those who have the figures of their answer attached to their names answered correctly, 188.

Our offer read that a copy of the INTERIOR JOURNAL would be given one year free to "the person sending the correct answer." Our intention was that the person should mean the first one to send the right answer, and under this we award the prize to Howard Bruce. If, however, any or all of those who sent correct solutions think that they are entitled to a paper under the words of the proposition, all they have to do is to say so, and the paper is theirs. The proposition was printed just a week ago to-day and the number of answers shows that the INTERIOR JOURNAL is not only widely read, but that many of its readers follow the command to "Search the Scriptures." We are highly gratified at the result and shall try to give a harder one soon.

DEATHS' DOINGS.

—Robert Underwood, of the Rush Branch neighborhood, died Saturday, aged 80, after an illness of only a few days. He was a lifelong member of the church and a good citizen.

—Miss Nannie Grant, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Grant, of this place, died on Thursday afternoon after a week's attack of la grippe, in the 26th year of her age.—Lancaster Record.

—Judge J. M. Sandifer, of Somerset, is dead. He was born in Lancaster in 1828 and moved to Somerset in 1855. A Royal Arch Mason, an Odd Fellow and a good citizen, Judge Sandifer passes away, to the regret of a large circle of friends.

—Mr. Williams, the father of the wife of Mrs. James P. Crow, with whom he lived at McKinney, died yesterday morning of paralysis, aged about 70. He was a native of Hardin county and the remains will be taken to Sonora for burial. He was a fine old gentleman and a devoted member of the Christian church.

—James Ashlock, aged 24, died Friday, after a long illness of consumption. He was an exceptionally good boy, and before his sickness begun worked hard for the support of his widowed mother and sisters. His remains were laid to rest in the family burying-ground Saturday morning, in the presence of a large number of friends.

—Paris is excited over the fact that Gabrielle Bombard, the accomplice of Eyraud, the strangler, has been found to be with child, many months after her imprisonment and separation from Eyraud. Under the pretext that she had been hypnotized Gabrielle's life was saved by an influence which has never been clearly understood. Eyraud could not be the father of her unborn child so it must have been some official of great influence, who had the right to enter her cell privately. As the executioner was fastening Eyraud down on the scaffold to meet the fall of the guillotine's knife, he commenced to talk of the personal relations of M. Constance, the French Secretary of the Interior, with the beautiful Gabrielle, but they cut his head off before he could finish.

TONSorial ARTIST,

W. P. WALTON.

PROFESSIONAL pension sharks are in the habit of sending out delusive circulars as soon as a man obtains a pension, saying that he is rated too low and should make application for increase. This gets him dissatisfied and the designing scamps work him for a fee for another rating. In order to put a stop to this method of soliciting business, which the department regards as unprofessional and illegitimate, the commissioner will require these barnacles and shysters hereafter to submit copies of all circulars to him before sending them out and any attorney who fails to comply with this requirement and sends out such publications as have been indicated will be promptly reported to the secretary for disbarment. It is well for the government to take the matter in hand for the designing scoundrels keep the pensioners in a ferment of dissatisfaction and cause the department a great deal of trouble.

READERS of the Courier-Journal will remember with what persistency that paper claimed for several weeks after the November election that Oklahoma had gone republican and it finally turned out that it was about the only thing the party had saved out of the general wreck. Well, Oklahoma held another election last week and the last prop was knocked out of the tumbling structure. The dispatches say that official returns of the county elections in Oklahoma show that the democratic and alliance tickets were victorious. Guthrie and Logan counties elect the straight democratic ticket. Payne county is half and half, democratic-alliance. Kingfisher and the three counties on the south are solidly democratic.

THE republican majority of the committee appointed to investigate the serious charges against Commissioner of Pensions Ramm have made a partisan report, whitewashing that individual, as it was intended they should, no matter how damaging the testimony against him. The democrats know that there was enough evidence to convict him of borrowing money from Lemon, the pension shark, which favor he repaid by granting him special and unusual privileges in his raid upon the treasury. It would never do for Harrison to have two proven scandals in the pension department, so the committee helped him out of the hole, regardless of their honors and oaths.

WHAT would James A. Garfield say if he could rise from the dead and read that the Senate has passed a pension appropriation bill, which carries $133,173,085 for pensions; $1,500,000 for fees and expenses of examining surgeons; $72,000 for pension agents' salaries and $400,000 for clerk hire? And then be told by those who know that these enormous amounts will not be sufficient to meet the demands on the department? He would have to admit very frankly that there had been "recklessly extravagant legislation" and that Congress in order to buy the soldier vote was ready to turn the treasury over to the coffee-coolers.

THE Boston Courant, the most influential newspaper of the colored people, demands that the president shall appoint a colored man secretary of the treasury, giving as the reason that the president owes his election to the colored voters and the appointment would be small enough reward for it. The Courant is wasting time and space in urging such a proposition. The republicans think a negro is a very good voter when he votes their way, but the offices belong to the white elect and not to the hewers of wood and drawers of water.

THE friends of the silver bill, finding that the packed committee would refuse to report it to the House, tacked a free coinage amendment to the sundry civil service bill in order to test its strength. It was ruled out of order by the chair and the ruling sustains 137 to 134, which apparently knocked out any further show for the bill this session. A number of democrats voted to sustain the appeal and as many republicans against it.

SENATOR TURPIE's bill to amend the constitution so as to make U. S. Senators elective by the people seems to meet with general favor. All of the Kentucky delegation, including both Senators, are enthusiastically for it. Gov. McCreary says: "I am in favor of the fullest power being given the people to elect United States Senators by a direct vote would, in my judgment, be a wise departure from the present methods."

It is said that the president has cabled John C. New to return from London and that this is meant that he is to be made secretary of the treasury. The little man will hardly, however, appoint two cabinet officers from the same State, when there are 44 others in the Union to select from.

THE Shelbyville Sentinel pays a glowing tribute to its countyman, Ex-Senator G. G. Gilbert, candidate for attorney general.

GEN. P. W. HARDIN has announced his candidacy for governor, on a platform that is the essence of democracy. Watt Hardin is an exceedingly popular and clever gentleman and his entry into the race will play smash with many calculations. As he is the last of those spoken of in connection with the governorship, the race is finally made up with him, John Young Brown, C. M. Clay, Jr., and Dr. Clardy on the slate.

SENATOR INGALLS says the defeat of the republicans last November was the most "stupendous and overwhelming disaster ever received in the annals of a powerful political organization." As the iridescent statesman was "in it," it has been very appropriately suggested that he is a competent witness. His testimony is therefore accepted with almost absolute assurance that he knows whereof he affirms.

GERMANY supports one of the largest armies in the world at a cost last year of $91,726,293. The U. S. has no standing army to speak of, yet to support its 25,000 soldiers and pay pensions it costs nearly $170,000,000 a year. Was such "recklessly extravagant legislation" ever dreamed of by Garfield and such patriots, when they thought that in 1872 the flood-tide of pensions had been reached?

A LAWYER, who is a republican, tells the Louisville Post that there is no necessity for another Federal court in Kentucky, "only to establish places for some of Congressman Wilson's friends. It would cost $20,000 a year to keep up the new court." The dispatches say that Gov. McCreary favors the court, which is a surprise to those who admit his good sense on nearly every proposition.

THE president has issued his proclamation of the reciprocity agreement between this country and Brazil. Reciprocity is Mr. Blaine's name for free trade, which if good with Brazil ought to be good with all the countries, especially of the Western Hemisphere.

A YOUNG MAN thoroughly equipped for the business and with a limited capital wishes to buy a newspaper, or an interest in one, former preferred. Address this office.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

—Mr. Miller's excellent plan for the reorganization of our courts is now being considered in the convention and it is hoped that in the main it will be adopted.

—Delegate Miller's attempt to have the daily sessions laid out at each end was at once recognized as a flank movement against the eight-hour rule and produced an instantaneous strike.—Louisville Times.

—Finding that it was next to impossible to keep a quorum of two-thirds, an amendment to the rules was adopted making 52 a quorum instead of 67, thus enabling 26 of the members to do what the whole were elected for.

—Hon. Wm. Berkeley, the delegate from Garrard, has not recovered from the severe attack of illness he suffered before the holidays. If it were not for putting his people to the trouble of another election, he says he would resign.—Louisville Post.

—The report says that Messrs. Miller and Bronston got away with most of Saturday's session with running debate. Did it ever strike these two eloquent gentlemen that perhaps they talk too much? It is a cold day when one or both does not air himself at length and take up valuable time. We are aware that they are men of great anagosity and general understanding in the neighborhood, but they should remember that while speech is silver, silence is golden.

NEWSY NOTES.

—W. H. Gray, of Boyle, lost his barn, valued at $1,500, by fire Sunday.

—Mrs. Rosana Hughes, whose age was well authenticated to be 102, died in Louisville.

—J. Pittman has been appointed postmaster at Rulo, Rockcastle county, vice Sarah H. Gentry.

—Homer Baxter, aged 56, and J. W. Thornburg, 76, died in Madison, we learn from the Register.

—Five Virginia miners were buried and suffocated in an avalanche of snow on Mount Sneffles, Colorado.

—The negro who assassinated the town marshal of Leland, Miss., was caught and hung from a railroad bridge.

—Will, a son of Judge John Goodloe, of Richmond, fell from a freight car and broke his leg so it had to be amputated.

—The London Echo says that the First National Bank of that place declared 5 per cent. for the last 6 months.

—Charles Jones, a brother of Sam, the evangelist, was acquitted at Cartersville, Ga., of the cowardly murder of a negro.

—At Sylacauga, Ala., four negroes lost their lives by the falling of a railway bridge of the Alabama Mine Rail Company.

—The post-office appropriation bill as reported to the House calls for $77,384,000, an increase of $5,158,000 over this year.

—Two men asked a Birmingham cashier, who was belated at his work, for permission to use the telephone. They got it, and secured the money in the safe after gagging and chloroforming the cashier.

—Baron Hirsch has authorized Jesse Seligman to draw on him for $2,500,000 to assist the work of Hebrew emigration to this country.

—The Pullman palace car repair shops at St. Louis burned and with them 11 cars, the machinery, planing mill, &c.; total loss $200,000.

—John Ryan, a Lexington saloon keeper, has been fined in many cases for allowing miners to play pool, fines and costs amounting to $1,000.

—The House decided Saturday to reduce the appropriations for salaries of some of the World's Fair officials. There was a lively debate on the subject.

—The free coinage silver bill is not likely to be acted on in the House during this Congress. Reed's packed committee has voted 7 to 5 not to report it.

—Burglars entered the residence of Bank President Cowles, at Clark, Neb., knocked him senseless, choked his wife to death and got off with less than $50.

—Sheriff H. C. Bird, of Bell, died last week, aged 35, and County Judge Slusher has appointed his brother, J. C. Slusher, to fill the office till the August election.

—Over 500 citizens of Palestine, Tex., held a mass meeting and condemned Mayor Ward in the severest terms for attacking Sam Jones and called on him to resign.

—The First Arkansas Valley Bank, at Wichita, the oldest in Southwestern Kansas, has failed, making the 10th bank since Christmas that has failed in that State.

—Ella Ewing, of Scotland, Mo., is thought to be the tallest girl in the world. She is just 19, is 8 feet tall and weighs 245 pounds. A museum manager has secured her.

—D. M. Davidson, a former Louisvilleian, cut his throat with a razor at Nashville and bled to death. He was unable to control his appetite for liquor and gave up the struggle.

—Senator Voorhees is ill of a complication of diseases and his friends are very uneasy about him. He may not be able to resume his seat during the remainder of the session.

—In a glove fight at Seattle, Wash., John Shaffer received a blow in the jaw from his antagonist, Wm. Doyle, which knocked him senseless, in which condition he remained till his death.

—At Sedalia, Mo., Thomas Williamson, a leader in the Salvation Army, was convicted of the murder of Jefferson and Charles Moore, father and son, and sentenced to be hanged March 20.

—The Farmer trio of the Illinois legislature have given republican members until next Tuesday to decide whether they will support either of the three men named as acceptable by them.

—W. A. Bailey, a Woodford county stock trader, whose mind had been injured by concussion of the brain caused by being thrown from a buggy, shot and killed himself in the presence of his wife Saturday.

—Hon. James Phelan, the youngest member of the 50th Congress, died at Nassau, Bahama Islands, Jan. 13, where he had gone for his health. He was owner of the Memphis Avalanche and was serving his second term in Congress.

—The Wabash railroad has compromised with Mrs. James F. Kellar, of Cynthia, by paying her $10,000 for the killing of her husband and son in a wreck on that road in Indiana, last June.

—Peter Golding stabbed another negro, Wm. Hansford, at Danville, and although the latter has but one arm he succeeded in getting the knife from his assailant and would have murdered him if he had not been caught.

—Mrs. Frances Burnley, whose husband was public printer during Taylor's administration, died at Frankfort, Friday, aged 81. She was the daughter of the late Senator George M. Bibb, and a grand-daughter of Gov. Charles Scott, of this State.

—Radicals are making the threat that if Free Coinage be tacked to an appropriation bill they will see that the Force bill goes on also as a rider. From present indications it appears that neither Free Coinage nor the Force bill has any show this session.

—Frank Polley, the youngest member of the Everole side of the French-Everole feud, had his head mashed into a jelly with a maul by his uncle, Isa Davidson, ex-clerk of Perry county. The boy had married and during his uncle's absence moved some furniture from his house.

—The governor has appointed R. S. Hearn, of Owen county, to fill the vacancy on the board of equalization caused by the resignation of John W. Green. To-day is the one set for the board to meet, but as only 10 assessors' books have been returned, it will likely adjourn till next month.

—In November last Mrs. Robt Hampton and Mr. Sanford Wheeler, both of Mercer county, eloped. Mrs. Hampton left a husband and two children and Wheeler a wife and three children. They left a letter saying they were going to Canada, but they were traced to Vincennes, Ind., where they were living as husband and wife. A brother went there to induce Mrs. Hampton to return home, but she refused, and he ordered them both arrested. Wheeler was arrested, but when the officers went after the woman she drew a pistol and shot herself, inflicting a fatal wound, and also tried to kill her paramour, saying she wanted him to die with her. Mrs. Hampton is a daughter of the well-

PERSONAL POINTS.

MISS BESSIE RICHARDS, of Junction City, is with friends here.

WILL SEVERANCE went to Louisville Friday to buy more goods.

JOSEPH SEVERANCE, JR., is down again, this time with a slight attack of pneumonia.

MISS KITTIE BAUGHMAN left yesterday to enter the Conservatory of Music in Cincinnati.

MISS ALICE and BIRDIE HARDIN, of Crab Orchard, were the guests of Mrs. Fannie Green.

THE Lexington Press has information that Mrs. Geo. O. Barnes is down with the pneumonia in Scotland.

THE Courier-Journal says: "Mr. Lewis Dudderar, of Kentucky, is a better man than Pasteur. He charges nobody a cent for the use of his madstone."

MR. MAX SALINGER was up yesterday to help the boys at the Louisville Store during court day. He likes Louisville, but says he has a warm place in his heart for Stanford.

MISS SUSIE GENTRY, of Lincoln county, is with Mrs. W. A. Shy, on Danville street. Mr. Luther Givens again visited "friends" at High Bridge, Sunday.—Harrodsburg Sayings.

We notice in the Columbia Spectator that Prof. C. E. Powell, of this county, is teaching a flourishing school at Montpellier, Adair county. He has 49 scholars and the number is constantly increasing.

MISS PATTIE and ANNIE TRIDDE gave a delightful reception at the Cumberland Hotel, last week, which was largely attended, and was, the News says, one of the most thoroughly enjoyable affairs ever given in Middlesboro.

D. R. CARPENTER, who represents the Aetna Insurance Co., has been promoted to special agent and his duty will now be to see to the general business and appoint agents. His business in January ranked 3d in a list of some 30 agents and the nice promotion is the result of it.

CITY AND VICINITY.

COME and see our new stock of gents' neckwear. Severance & Son.

We will open this morning a new stock of dress goods suitable for wrappers. Ladies, come early. Severance & Son.

THE mayor and city council may save a damage suit by heeding the notice published by Dr. J. K. Van Arsdale, in this issue.

ALL persons having claims against the estate of T. C. Coffey are requested to present them to me properly verified. J. B. Paxton.

THE stock books of the Odd Fellows' Hall Association will be opened at the lodge to-night and a full attendance of the membership is urgently requested. A. C. Sine.

THE Court of Appeals was to have considered Wils Jennings' appeal Saturday, but postponed it to the 17th. Jennings is in jail here under a life sentence, for murder committed in Harlan.

"THE Penalty of Crime," with George Bennett and Ella Hunter in the leading roles, at Walton's Opera House Saturday night, 14th. Admission 25, 35 and 50 cents. The latter reserved and can be had at W. B. McRoberts'.

JOHN H. CRAIG & SON, with Browning, King & Co., New York, and Wanamaker & Brown, Philadelphia, in addition to their salesrooms on College Square, Main street, have opened elegant clothing parlors in the Van Arsdale building, second floor. On sale immense lines of foreign and domestic fabrics, for made-to-order spring and summer suits.

MIDDLESBORO.—The News says that an establishment for the manufacture of carbonated drinks will be established there to-day. The specialties to be manufactured are ginger ale, birch beer, sarsaparilla, lemon, soda and mineral water.—J. E. Cartwright, of Youngstown, O., is here for the purpose of securing a location for the removal of his cotton factory, which will employ 600 men.

For fruits and confectioneries go to Zimmer's.

This is Shrove Tuesday and Lent begins to-morrow.

Your account is ready and must be settled. W. B. McRoberts.

FOR SALE.—A good second-hand 2-horse wagon. Will sell cheap. M. F. Elkin.

FIRST installment of carpets, oil cloths, rugs, &c., for the spring trade, received yesterday. Severance & Son.

THE city council elected John S. Owsley, Jr., city attorney and we hope he will whoop up the law-breakers.

MRS. E. B. JONES, of this county, has a Bible that has been in the possession of her ancestry for nearly 500 years. She prizes the Good Book very highly, of course.

YESTERDAY was the worst county court day we ever saw in Stanford. It poured down rain all day and less than 25 persons were in town more than is here on an ordinary Monday.

THE Knights of Pythias lodge here is progressing nicely and is being augmented in number each meeting. It is very probable that a uniform rank will be established in a short while.

THE assistant road-master of the L. & N., Mr. A. J. Lamb, has had the distance from the Logan's Fort Spring, on Mr. Wm. Welsh's place, to Rowland measured and it is said that the company will lay down a 10-inch main to convey the water to the latter place for the use of its men and engines.

At a meeting of the directors of the Harrodsburg Land and Improvement Co., held there Friday, it was decided to accept the proposition of the Eastern syndicate, made to Treasurer C. F. Davidson, and the transfer of the property was ordered to be made. It is said that the new company will erect many manufacturing plants this summer and put in many public improvements.

It may not be generally known, but it is a fact nevertheless, that Stanford has a $1,500 interest in the Female College, which subscription was made on condition that no male child should be taken as a pupil in it. At a meeting of the city council Thursday night it was ordered that this condition be modified so that boys under the age of 12 may be admitted to the school, the town reserving the right to revoke this concession at any time in the future that it is found best that it be done.

BETH FUSON, who has been in jail here since he was given 21 years in the penitentiary for killing John Lawson in Laurel county, pending an appeal, has been granted a new trial. The Court of Appeals holds that instead of the jury convicting on the testimony of the grand jurors, who swore that Wm. Jackson testified before them that he said Fuson put a pistol against Lawson and shot, their testimony should have only gone before them in the way of contradicting Jackson's testimony, when he swore on the trial that he did not see Fuson kill Lawson.

THE Merchants' Carnival, presented at Lancaster Friday night by local talent, was a decidedly pleasing entertainment and reflected much credit upon those who took part in it, and on the town as well. Some 30 beautiful girls, dressed in gay costumes, made the stage a thing of beauty, and the entire business of the town was portrayed by them. Capt. Letcher Owsley and Sergt. Rothwell attended to the military portion of the performance, which consisted of several drills that were through with the precision of professionals. Miss Hughes presided at the piano and rendered several beautiful solos.

MR. A. C. SINE's proposition to the Odd Fellows to buy the old Commercial Hotel site and erect a handsome two-story brick, with stores, offices and a large hall, is meeting with great favor. He tells us that 22 of the members seen have agreed to take $8,300 worth of stock, leaving only $1,700 to be taken by the 26 other members of the lodge. The enterprise seems certainly assured and it is to be hoped that no hitch will occur to prevent the immediate prosecution of it. We learn that a gentleman has already offered $450 a year for five years for the corner store-room it will have.

KATE HIATT, a demi monde of a dusky hue, made a good effort toward taking the town Friday night. In the first place she loaded up with whisky, which made her exceedingly quarrelsome, and he who met her on the street was the recipient of filthy epithets, whether deserved or not, and secondly she persisted in singing aloud a song which was as wanting in decency as it was in harmony. Finally Marshal Newland found her and proceeded to arrest her, but she thinking it was her fellow, reciprocated by a profuse amount of osculation and the little policeman was nearly squeezed to death. Jailer Owens very fortunately appeared on the scene and released Stanford's marshal, but he himself did not escape without an embrace or two. Her case will be disposed of later on.

THE democratic county committee elected Joseph Briggs Paxton chairman yesterday, for which position he is fitted both by experience and location.

FOR TRIAL.—Jailer Johnson took Eb Gooden, who has been confined in jail here, to Pineville yesterday to answer to the charge of murdering the marshal of that town.

THE sheriff took possession of a store in town Saturday on an attachment gotten out by a Louisville firm, but as the matter is likely to be adjusted, we withhold names.

FELL DEAD.—Mrs. Jefferson Hale died very suddenly yesterday of an apoplectic fit, aged 50 years. She had not been sick and the family was greatly shocked. Besides her husband she leaves six children.

THE home of the late J. M. Phillips on the Danville pike was sold by Administrator W. E. Varnon to J. N. Menefee as trustee for Mrs. Phillips and her children for $1,480. It contains 10 acres and a fair house.

COUNTY COURT yesterday was devoid of public interest. The will of Mrs. Nancy Ann Stephenson was presented for probate, but a notice of contest on the ground that she was not capable of making a will was filed, and Judge Varnon set Feb. 24th for its trial.

THE lecture of Dr. Hall, advertised by the Christian Endeavor to occur to-night, will not be delivered, that gentleman having written that he is sick in Texas and unable to reach this and numerous other appointments in Kentucky. He promises to come later, however.

THE schedule for the Richmond branch of the K. C., prepared by Master of Trains Frank Harris, very favorably impressed General Passenger Agent C. P. Atmore and may be adopted with some slight changes. The new schedule, whatever it may be, will go into effect Sunday, the 15th.

LATER.—As we go to press a dispatch from Mr. Harris says there will be no change in the running of the K. C., the mixed train arriving and departing as now. This is decidedly bad indeed.

THE action of the Christian church at Stanford in turning out Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Alford because the husband had been divorced for other than scriptural reasons and that therefore they are living in adultery, seems to have been a rather despot proceeding. At any rate those on the outside do not regard it as a christian act and therefore feel much sympathy for the deposed parties. Rev. J. G. Livingston, who married the couple, is also censured by some, but he says he is backed by the law and christian sentiment and doesn't fear the result.

AFTER a beautiful Sunday, it clouded up at night and a heavy rain storm, accompanied by lightning and thunder, set in, lasting all day yesterday and deluging the streets and valleys. The cold wave signal was ordered up at an early hour, with the prediction that the temperature would fall to 16° by 8 this morning, but there were little signs of its being verified when this was written, although the wind had veered to the N. E. The worst blizzard of the season was reported in the Northwest yesterday, with snow blocking the railroads and knocking the telegraph wires silly.

JUNCTION CITY was the scene of the wildest excitement Friday morning. A dozen negroes, who had taken down rafts on the Kentucky river to Frankfort, were returning to their homes in the mountains and while waiting for a connection, three of them went to the saloon run by Jonathan Russell and called for whisky. They drank the liquor and then raised a row with Mr. Russell, but that gentleman showed them a bold front, and after flourishing murderous looking revolvers awhile, they repaired to a negro lunch room in the vicinity. Russell complained to Marshal Wells and that officer with his brother-in-law, J. W. Sampson, went to arrest the party. They entered the house and Russell pointed out one of the negroes as belonging to the party that had been in the saloon. Wells took the negro, disarmed him and put him in Russell's charge and then began looking for another one of them, when, in the twinkling of an eye, the negro in Russell's charge shoved him on the outside and locked the door from within, and the shooting began. Wells and Sampson were then shut up in a room about 12 feet square, with nine or ten negroes all shooting at them at once. Sampson was shot early in the fight, but managed to force his way from the room through a rear door, but Wells was not so fortunate and had to be carried from the building.

Mr. Wells was shot while down and the ball entering his shoulder and passing to the spinal column, it completely paralyzed him and rendered his death almost certain. Four of the negroes were wounded, none of them severely, and all were after considerable search arrested and lodged in jail at Danville, where precautions were taken to prevent them from receiving their just deserts at the hands of a mob.

News from Junction City just before going to press says that the marshal was still alive, but that his death was expected at any time, the doctors having pronounced the case hopeless. Sampson was much improved.

THIEVES got into the Roller Mill not long since by knocking out the window panes, but they can't do so any more. Heavy blinds have been placed on the windows and the stable is locked after the horse has been stolen.

JOHN SCOTT, son of Mrs. Scott, who is a daughter of John R. Lawless, writes from Lexington that the "White House Game," which he invented, is meeting with so large a sale that he has reduced the price to 50 and 75 cents. He says "Mrs. Cleveland sent him an order and such a nice letter," and his pa's army of friends are buying it liberally. Address orders to Mrs. Mary L. Scott, 257 N. Upper street, Lexington.

Prison Chaplain (to condemned)—"My poor man, you are about to die; are you ready for the reaper—Death—that sooner or later must gather us all in?"

Condemned—"I don't object to the reaper; it's the twine binder that bothers me."

—Sunday night in Cincinnati Adolph Trauerbach, prompted by jealousy, shot his wife and then killed himself.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

To the Mayor of town of Stanford

You are hereby notified that the rock culvert across the pike in front of my dwelling is altogether too small and shallow for the outlet of the water that is turned in the ravine from other lots around and above me, and is liable to overflow and greatly damage the undersigned, for which I will try to hold said town responsible by law.

Choice Blue-Grass Farm FOR SALE.

I will sell privately, at a bargain, my farm at Crab Orchard, Lincoln county, Ky.

This farm, formerly known as the Jacob Guest home-stead, contains

280 Acres Excellent Land,

In prime condition, and well improved, lying partly in the limits of the town of Crab Orchard, on the L. & N. R. R.

The farm is divided nearly equally by the pike leading South from town, there being 175 acres on the East side on which is the mansion house, a large, roomy and well-built brick of 7 rooms, besides kitchen, servant's house, stable, &c., and on the West side 105 acres, which has also a comfortable frame residence, out-houses, &c.

I will sell the place as a whole, or if desired will sell either of the tracts singly. Either will make an elegant and comfortable home, convenient to school, churches, good turnpikes and the railroad.

Persons desirous of inspecting the place will be shown over it by James Hays, now residing on the premises. For terms apply or address me at Danville, Ky.

Ingalls Explains Himself.

Senator Ingalls continues to fly in the face of the republicans and soften the democratic heart towards him. On a question of personal privilege he addressed the Senate on his return from his defeat in Kansas in substance as follows:

He had been opposed, (he said) unalterably opposed, to the adoption of the cloture, for many reasons sufficient and satisfactory to himself. There were those present who knew that, many months ago, while occupying the chair in the absence of the Vice President, he resisted many urgent importunities and many strenuous solicitations to cooperate in that direction by methods which he then believed and now believes were revolutionary and subversive of the fundamental principles of constitutional government. He had not since seen any occasion to change or modify his convictions.

He was now and always has been in favor of a just and impartial election law, directed alike against force and fraud, non-partisan, and applicable equally to all parts of the nation. The measure under consideration, however, did not, in many of its details, receive the sanction of his judgment. It appeared to him to be cumbersome, complicated, obscure in many of its provisions, and difficult of application. It subordinated the judiciary to political control and opened the treasury to indefinite expenditure without requisite supervision and in violation (in his judgment) of the spirit, if not the letter, of the provision of the constitution that declared that no money shall be drawn out of the treasury except in consequence of appropriations made by law.

Paying his respects to those republicans who have been reading him out of the party, he said it was related that the streets of Jerusalem had been kept clean by every man sweeping before his own door, and he commended to these constituted guardians of the consciences of their associates (outside of the Senate Chamber) that they should observe a more frugal, prudent and guarded husbandry of their disapprobation. These leaders who had conducted the most powerful political organization known in American history to the most stupendous and overwhelming disaster received in its annals, might well pardon those who were disposed to doubt the infallibility of their judgment. If they were wise, they would be less prescriptive and more tolerant of differences of opinion among their associates on questions of opinion on which differences might be allowed, especially among those whose devotion to human liberty had never been questioned and whose constancy and fortitude had been exposed to tests as severe at least as any which they had ever known.

A Remarkable Woman.

(To the Editor of the Interior Journal.) On New Year's day last, Mrs. Mary Annie Rigney's 90th birthday was celebrated at her son's, Joab Rigney with whom she resides in Casey county, near Poplar Hill. She is quite stout and active for one of her age. Can walk a mile in half an hour; possesses a good memory and can recall events with considerable accuracy. Her husband, Joab Rigney, Sr., has been dead 13 years, having lived to the ripe old age of 81. They had five children, three of whom are living. She has 35 grand, 155 great grand and 28 great-great grand children, aggregating 221 persons. She was a midwife of large practice, often visiting patients 10 and 12 miles and still takes a case now and then. She was a life-long Methodist until September last, when she united with the Christian church and was immersed by Eld. J. Q. Montgomery, of Lincoln county. She and her husband were born and raised in the "Old Dominion." J. R.

NEW SWINDLING SCHEME.—The latest swindle is accomplished by means of a double fountain pen, one end filled with good ink and the other with ink that fades away in a day or two. The sharper's plan is to call on farmers or others, make a trade so advantageous to them that they are willing to agree to it, write the contract with ink that fades, then manage so that the victim signs with the ink that lasts. Then in a few days they have the signature on a sheet of blank paper, on which any sort of note can be written. Persons who do not read the newspapers are most liable to be duped. —Richmond Register.

He (desperately)—"Tell me the truth. Is it not my poverty that stands between us?"

She (sadly)—"Yes."

He (with a ray of hope)—"I admit that I am poor, and so, unfortunately, is my father; but I have an aged uncle who is very rich and a bachelor. He is an invalid and cannot long survive."

She (delightedly)—"How kind and thoughtful you are! Will you introduce me to him?"

HER THOUGHTS.

"A penny for your thoughts," he said, And sweetly she raised her head To meet his searching eyes; She laughed, and blushed a vivid red, Then shyly, "Oh, how stupid, Fred, A man is when he tries."

"For don't you know they're not the sort Of things that can be sold or bought, And, oh, you silly Freddy— You didn't know it? Well, you ought, That I have not a single thought That is not yours already." —James G. Burnett in Springfield Gazette.

Ladies in a Greek Play.

During the Christmas vacation at Yale the college society interested itself in preparations for the production, which has been announced for about April 1, of the "Antigone," by Sophocles. The Greek play has never before been attempted here, but if the anticipated success is realized there will be further endeavors in the same line. As the proceeds of the play are to be devoted to the establishment of an infirmary for students at Yale, there is no doubt of financial success, and the ability of those in charge insures artistic merit. It is intended that the production shall be as faithful after that of the Greeks as possible, but with Mendelssohn's music by a full orchestra and supplementary chorus, and without masks.

The committee in charge of the performance is composed of Mrs. George Farnam, Mrs. William W. Farnam, Mrs. E. V. Reynolds, Mrs. Kernochan, Mrs. Dr. Carmalt and Miss Cutler. The cast selected is as follows: Creon, Mrs. S. Hartwell Chapman; Haemon, Miss Anna Richards; Eurydice, wife of Creon, Miss Lily White; Antigone, Mrs. H. Grant Thompson; the Guard, Miss Bessie Beach; First and Second Messengers, Mrs. Charles De Forest; Teiresias, Miss Johnston; Ismene, Miss Pardee; the Priestess, Mrs. J. B. Sargent; attendants, Miss Lena Farnam and Miss Edith Trowbridge. In addition to these will be the twelve Theban Elders and the special chorus of thirty voices.—New Haven Cor. New York Times.

A Little Austrian Princess.

I told you some days ago that the Archduchess Elizabeth, the late crown prince's little daughter, had come from Luxemburg to spend the winter at the burg in Vienna. The little lady—"die kleine frau," as she is called—"on Tuesday made the acquaintance of her tutor, who, at the emperor's express wish, is to teach her strictly on the system followed in the public school, in which the archduchess' master has a class. It is said that the "kleine frau," though an adept in French and Hungarian, has only learned to read and write her native language by instruction from a maid. The archduchess was seven last September. She is very shy, from having been so much in the country, but when the tutor told her she would please the emperor and empress by making progress she eagerly promised she would do her best. The little princess is very tall for her age, blue-eyed and fair haired, and is dressed like an English child. She is very popular in Vienna, and the children who are out walking between 12 and 2 always watch for her as she passes on her drive to the Prater. She acknowledges every child's bow in a most friendly manner, and blows kisses to the little ones.—Vienna Cor. London News.

An Occupation for Athletic Women.

One of the new occupations for women now creating a demand for which the supply is unequal is that of instructors in women's gymnasiums. The salary ranges from $500 to $750 a year, with four months' vacation, and the work is most hygienic and improving, but leading manufacturers of gymnasium supplies are unable to fill the orders that come to them for trained teachers in the use of the apparatus. There are five leading schools for physical education. Boston has a normal school in physical culture, the Adelphi academy has another well known institution, where the student is taught how to fit up a gymnasium and to manufacture apparatus as well as to teach their use. The summer school for teachers at Harvard college is an important institution, having had 160 pupils in the three months of its existence. The average cost of instruction in these training colleges is about $300 a year, and a course of instruction for graduation comprises two years of seven months each.—New York Letter.

How Some Authors Dress.

Helen Mathers has a keen eye for fashions. She attires herself in the latest modes. In the evening she is always dressed in white. Her day gowns are always in pronounced colors. They are somewhat bizarre. Mrs. J. H. Riddell dresses in perfectly plain and simple black. Her extremely plain dresses rather individualize her. Mrs. Riddell is passionately fond of flowers, especially roses. Florence Marryat dresses atrociously. She adores plush. She has a flaming red gown in that material that she puts on of an evening sometimes. Miss Marryat is very fond of bright blue. This color doesn't harmonize with her florid coloring any more than red.—London Star.

An Author in Demand.

Nothing succeeds like success, in literature as well as in other professions. Since "The Anglomaniacs" Mrs. Harrison has been besought by editors and publishers on all sides to write at her own terms. Departments in periodicals have been thrown open to her, and if she was the sort of woman whose head is turned by adulation she would be looking backward today. But she is not the least bit "set up" by her vogue.—New York Letter.

Remedy for Cold Feet.

The cause of cold feet is an insufficient supply of blood in the parts to keep up the temperature. There are many so-called remedies for this distressing complaint, but in our experience massage is the most effectual. First dip the foot into tepid or cool water only for an instant, and then begin at once to manipulate it thoroughly by stretching, pressure, rubbing, and every form of manipulation you can devise.—Herald of Health.

Pronounced Hopeless, Yet Saved.

From a letter written by Mrs. Ada E. Hurd, of Groton, S. D., we quote: "Wasted with a bad cold, which settled on my lungs, I coughed and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined I would not stay with my friends on earth I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles; it has cured me and I thank God I am now well and hearty woman." Trial free for free at A. R. Penny's drug store, regular size 50 cents and $1.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

OF STANFORD, KY.

Capital Stock.....$200,000

Surplus.....16,500

Attention of the public is invited to the fact that this is the only National Bank in Stanford. Under the provisions of the National Bank Act, depositors are secured not only by the capital stock, but by the stockholders' liability for an amount equal to the stock, so that depositors of this institution are secured by a fund of $200,000. Five sworn statements of the condition of the bank are made each year to the United States government and its assets are examined at stated times by government agents, thus securing additional and perfect safety to depositors.

The Deposit Bank of Stanford in 1898, then re-organized as the National Bank of Stanford in 1900 and again re-organized as the First National Bank of Stanford in 1901, has had practically an uninterrupted existence of 32 years. It is better supplied now with facilities for transacting business promptly and liberally than ever before in its long and honorable career. Accounts of corporations, fiduciaries, firms and individuals respectfully solicited.
